Introduction

We would like to acknowledge the Traditional Owners of the various lands on which we live, and pay our respects to Elders past, present and emerging.

The South East Sydney Multicultural Water Safety Committee has compiled this directory of aquatic services and water safety resources to provide information for service providers and community groups to assist with improving water safety on our beaches and waterways.

Based on the successful model implemented by the Illawarra Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Water Safety Committee, we aim to create a collaborative environment to encourage effective communication between multicultural services and aquatic service providers. In this way, we hope to ensure water safety initiatives are responsive to the needs and assets of the regions culturally and linguistically diverse communities.

Join us to increase awareness and education by exploring, developing and delivering water safety initiatives at our beaches, waterways and other aquatic environments.

An online version of this directory, which includes more information on events, workshops and courses, can be found at: <http://watersafe.org.au/>

Key water safety messages

- 1 Never swim alone
- 2 Call 000 in an emergency and ask for Police
- 3 Learn CPR and lifesaving skills
- 4 Learn about the different Australian waterways
- 5 Don't go in the water after alcohol and other drugs

At the beach

- 1 Always swim between the red and yellow flags
- 2 Read all safety signs
- 3 Ask the lifeguards and lifesavers about the conditions and safety advice
- 4 If you get into trouble, stay calm and signal for help

Rock fishing safety

Rock fishing is one of the most dangerous sports in Australia, with the South East Sydney coastline, especially the Randwick coastline, being particularly dangerous in terms of deaths. To minimise risks, please adhere to the following:

- 1 Wear a lifejacket - it is now law and fines apply
- 2 Never fish alone and make sure someone knows where you are
- 3 Stay alert and never turn your back on the sea
- 4 Check weather conditions prior to going out
- 5 Fish in known safe areas
- 6 Wear correct clothing (non-slip shoes and lightweight clothing)
- 7 If you see someone in trouble, do not enter the water. Find something to assist them like a life buoy, or anything that will float, such as an esky lid, and call 000 and ask for Police
- 8 Learn to swim and learn CPR

More resources on rock fishing safety can be found on page 8 of this book.

Patrolled Beaches and Surf Life Saving Clubs

Council Lifeguards are part of a national network of professional men and women who patrol our beaches 365 days a year. Their job is to ensure the safety of beachgoers and are there to help you. The only thing they ask is that you follow their advice. Every morning a professional Lifeguard (in blue) inspects the beach conditions and decides on the safest area for people to swim or if the beach needs to be closed due to dangerous conditions.

Surf Life Saving Club members (in the red and yellow) are a network of volunteer surf lifesavers that patrol beaches in the peak periods between September and April. Surf Life Saving Clubs offer community education and training in beach safety, surf sports and plenty of opportunities for community involvement.
