

Book Reviews

Junior Non-Fiction Books

'Mini Scientist in the Garden' by Lisa Burke

Budding mini scientists can get their hands dirty with this great new addition to DK's Mini Scientist series. This highly visual book is filled with fun hands on garden experiments perfect for young children. Mini Scientist in the Garden introduces early science concepts through play and simple explanations.

'Knights and Castle' by Hazel Maskell,
Usborne 1001 Things to Spot Series

Our junior non-fiction collection isn't just a great resource for doing school projects – it also has heaps of fun books for you to read. 1001 Knights and Castle Things to Spot are full of amazingly detailed pictures. Help Will the Squire to become a knight by searching for all sorts of objects and people from mediaeval times.

